VERIDOCs ANNOUNCES STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP WITH V-DOCS IN THE TELECOMMUNICATIONS RETAIL INDUSTRY

Thursday, April 14, 2011 (Las Vegas, NV) – Veridocs announced today that they have signed a distribution agreement with V-Docs, the leading provider of paperless contract systems to the retail telecommunications industry.

“V-Docs’ outstanding technology in online, paperless contract solutions was a perfect fit with Veridocs’ identification authentication solution,” said John Mahoney, executive vice president of Veridocs. Further to this statement, Mr. Mahoney added, “Our Val-ID service solution will provide V-Docs the ability to not only automatically populate contracts with a customer’s biographic details, but to authenticate the customer’s identification in seconds, increasing the end-user’s operational efficiencies and mitigating risk due to identification fraud.”

Matt Brannon, sr. vice president of sales and marketing for V-Docs commented, “Veridocs is a natural fit for V-Docs, as it speaks to our overall commitment to provide telecom retailers with tools that will maximize their profits and increase their operational efficiencies.”

When asked how the Veridocs solution provides these results, Mr. Brannon stated, “The ability to authenticate a customer’s identification at the time of sale will drastically reduce the number of clawbacks retailers experience when accounts are initiated with fraudulent credentials. The Veridocs solution will significantly reduce the amount of time it takes to set up new accounts, and renew existing accounts by eliminating the need to type in a customer’s information. This will not only allow retailers to assist more customers more efficiently, but will eliminate data-entry errors.”

Mr. Mahoney went on to say that the decision to collaborate with V-Docs in the retail telecom industry was “an easy decision. V-Docs’ excellent reputation and large footprint in the industry, coupled with their outstanding customer service makes them, hands-down, the best partner for Veridocs. We look forward to working with V-Docs to continue to develop solutions that meet the needs of telecom retailers now and into the future.”
